INTERTRIBAL AGRICULTURE COUNCIL

2023 ANNUAL CONFERENCE

The Intertribal Agriculture Council (IAC) is on a mission to pursue and promote the conservation, development, and use of our agricultural resources for the advancement of Tribal Nations—574+ diverse Indian Tribes and Alaska Native Villages.

Annually, the IAC hosts a conference to continue redefining and rebuilding sovereign Tribal food systems. The organization's founding members convened the first IAC conference in 1987, with 87 Tribal Nations attending as charter members. IAC's organizational structure supports a comprehensive approach to removing systemic inequities and barriers by focusing on advocating for the policy priorities identified by our members, advising the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) on programmatic implementation while supporting Tribes and Tribal producers in their agriculture endeavors.

IAC promotes using Native-led resources to benefit American Indian and Alaska Native peoples. Programmatic offerings have expanded over nearly four decades to include legal and policy development, USDA technical assistance, natural resources management, domestic and international marketing support, regenerative financing assistance, and Native youth in food and agriculture leadership development. Informed by the trade routes and food systems on this continent before colonization, IAC seeks to address systemic inequities better to serve Native producers and Indian Country as a whole.
